2017: A YEAR OF TRANSITION

This past year was notable for many changes that took place for the Museum staff. Director Brian Bergheger retired in October and his replacement, Dave Oberg, took over in November. Long-time Curator of Collections, Nancy Wilson, retired this summer and has been replaced by former part-time staffer, Daniel Lund. Jessie Sekiya rejoined the staff in a full-time capacity as Coordinator of Public Programs and School Services. Curator of Exhibits, Lance Tawzer, moved on to a new opportunity and his replacement will be named soon. As a result, the EHM team anticipates many fresh ideas and innovations in the coming years.

EXHIBITS

The Elmhurst History Museum staff presented a mix of temporary exhibits along with the ongoing Elmhurst history exhibit, By All Accounts: The Story of Elmhurst, to offer an ever-changing, always engaging selection of history-related learning experiences to the public. EHM extended its reach to other institutions throughout the Midwest by sharing staff-designed touring exhibits to other museums and libraries.

→ Ongoing Elmhurst History Exhibit

This ongoing exhibit of Elmhurst history continues to be enhanced to keep it fresh and interesting for visitors. A new feature, the History Spotlight, was added in 2017 to offer “mini-exhibits” focusing on Elmhurst-related items from the collection which will change quarterly. This past year, displays included objects from the 1893 Columbian Exposition and materials related to the Elmhurst Quarry. Another 2017 addition was the installation of a feature on the history of the Glos family and the Glos Mansion. Both can be found in the second floor hallway.

SCHOOLS & SCOUTS

Whether it's in the Museum or at the Churchville Schoolhouse, in the classroom or the Education Center, with schoolchildren or scout groups—history programming for children remains at the core of the Elmhurst History Museum's mission to provide diverse educational experiences.

Through hands-on, engaging programs, history comes to life through a living history program with the schoolmarm at the Churchville Schoolhouse—a restored National Register of History Places property—with nearly 750 schoolchildren experiencing the program in 2017. In addition, kid-friendly tours with a fun I-Spy activity in the By All Accounts exhibit and Old-Fashioned Games proved popular in the Museum. Our programs also go on the road, and portable programs were brought offsite to 479 children in public and private classrooms in Elmhurst and area suburbs including KidStory, So You Want to Be An Immigrant, and Native Americans of Illinois programs.

In 2017, local scouts completed badge work at both the Museum and Schoolhouse with over 100 scouts served. The scout program offerings were revamped by staff in 2017 for both Girl and Boy scouts and six new programs are now available, from Blossoming with the Juniors to Telling Tales with the Tigers with more new programs to come.

On the horizon, a potential partnership with the Fischer Farm homestead in Bensenville is being considered with the cooperation of the DuPage Forest Preserve District. A few pilot test field trips were successfully implemented last year, and plans for exciting future programs and special events are being discussed.

COLLECTION & RESEARCH

Collections staff is assisted by a dedicated team of volunteers and an intern to manage the EHM's collection. Supporting exhibits with research and artifacts is a key focus as well as managing records pertaining to the thousands of photos, manuscripts and three-dimensional objects that have been collected for over 60 years. A major ongoing project continues to be the digitization of the collection, with 2,646 digital images added in 2017. This effort allows these items to be searchable which expands the Museum's ability to serve researchers, fulfill photo requests, and grow the online photo database on the web site.

EHM also shared the collection with the public in 2017 on social media through weekly Throwback Thursday posts and an Artifact of the Month feature on Facebook and Instagram. The year's most popular #tbt image was a photograph of an interior view of the Elmhurst National Bank building in 1960 posted in September, which had a reach of 7,531 people and 60 reactions (featured on the cover). The most popular Artifact of the Month posted in June was Rick Nielsen's 1979 Custom Hamer V Guitar (a loaned item), with a reach of 4,597 people and 48 reactions.

A total of 277 reference requests were fielded by the collections staff in 2017 from 14 different states and three other countries (Ireland, Germany, and Denmark). The top three reference topics were concerning Elmhurst businesses, house history, and genealogy.

A few notable donations to the collection were made in 2017, including:

- ➔ A collection of York Theatre posters from the late 1930s;
- ➔ An employee uniform from the Century of Progress World's Fair;
- ➔ A manuscript collection from the League of Woman Voters of Elmhurst; and
- ➔ A manuscript and photograph collection detailing the early years of the Yorkfield community in unincorporated Elmhurst.

PROGRAMS & EVENTS

In 2017, the Museum hosted 2,711 participants at 21 different programs for both adults and families. The Museum frequently collaborated with other area organizations from the Elmhurst Public Library and York Theatre, to DuPage County Stormwater and Yorkfield Presbyterian Church. A mix of lectures, tours, and hands-on workshops provided a range of choices for patrons and expanded the learning opportunities provided in the exhibits. In addition, three large-scale special events each attracted more than 500 guests: Museum Day, Disco Explosion and the Elmhurst Quarry Tour (which sold out in less than four hours), and more than 225 elves were on hand to ring in the holidays at the annual Jolly Old St. Nicholas Concert. In June, the Disco Explosion event was a highlight of the summer, providing a fun and spirited kick off to the Disco Demolition exhibit. An appearance by rocker Jim Peterik, School of Rock, White Sox organist Nancy Faust, and disco tunes by the Shagadelics band were well received by the enthusiastic crowd.
